COTIF's philosophy is based on the support and promotion of football in its pure state, of grassroots football, the pioneer football of the professional world which has not been caught up yet by commercial ambition. In this way COTIF supports women's football in a decisive manner as well.

The first Tournament began in the summer of 2012 with the participation of four club teams from the highest category at national level and in 2014 it became consolidated with the participation of teams such as Levante UD, València CF, FC Barcelona and the French Montpellier.

The next edition 2018 wants to be the definite strengthening together with the Under-20 Tournament which is already a success. Our aim is to turn it into an International Tournament (with 6 teams) and bring it to the same standard the men's Tournament has reached.

The strength of women's football teams over the last few years showed their professionalism, power and increasing technical level. They changed the idea and general view that women playing football was trivial and insignificant and it has already been accepted that they have a good technical level and offer a great performance.... that is to say, football isn't only men's business any more.
